

Volunteering in the UN Sustainable Development Goals

Winter School

6-12 February, RUDN University

(#3 Good health and Well-being for people; #4 quality education; #11 sustainable cities and communities)

Re: Application to participate

I would like to submit my application to participate in the International winter school to get a little exposure on how to volunteer (and get an opportunity to do so) in addressing the UN Sustainable Development Goals. My interests are based on SDG #11 Sustainable cities and communities because it is a completely new concept especially in Africa and I am comfortable that I would contribute to this by sharing the challenges the continent faces in this regard. In general however, the SDG's are the current global issues that we are facing and hence it presents a unique opportunity to get information on how other countries such as Korea tackle these issues. I think that the exchange of ideas will not only promote global friendship between Russia, Korea and other countries that are represented at Peoples Friendship University of Russia but also create a basis for fresh information for purposes of research which could be beneficial to the postgraduate students who are interested in global problems and their solutions. The exchange of knowledge would be a great experience.

Regards,

Njenga Lily

PhD Student

Department of International Law, Law Institute of Peoples Friendship University of Russia